

Dear Friends,

The Ramakrishna Vedanta Society of North Texas functions entirely through the voluntary support of devotees and well-wishers like you. We are deeply grateful for your past contributions. They have sustained our operations and programs including Sunday talks, retreats, classes, special pujas, and inviting excellent speakers for nearly two decades.

Now in our 19th year as a private center under the Vedanta Society of Southern California, the North Texas Vedanta community also carries a much longer history. Senior monks from Ramakrishna Math and the Vedanta centers around the globe began visiting Dallas devotees as early as the 1970s. Today, the main building and lecture hall (125 W. Scotland Dr.), the beautiful shrine-room for meditation, the gardens, and the monastery for the resident minister and visiting monastics are supported solely through donations.

In April 2023, we formally requested the Ramakrishna Math and Mission Headquarters in Kolkata to grant us official affiliation as a Belur Math center, and we hope for approval in the near future.

Because the Vedanta Society does not have “membership,” regular contributions are an important way to assure steady support for ongoing operations. Even modest recurring donations make a real difference.
